

1. K-LOVE is the main radio station that I listen to for programming that includes news, music, and programs that promote and support wholesome values and therefore has a positive impact in our community.

2. If K-LOVE (in my area, 91.3, 92.1, and 106.3 MHz) were displaced by an LPFM broadcaster, it is very unlikely that the programming would be anything similar to that provided by K-LOVE. Since K-LOVE relies on the availability of these translators in the currently assigned FM frequencies, the potential for displacement by LPFM stations is not something I can endorse.

3-Since K-LOVE relies on the availability of translators throughout the country to provide its wholesome, family-oriented programming, the possibility is very strong that hundreds of thousands, perhaps millions of listeners will be without the ability to listen to their favorite programming if the proposed LPFM service changes that would allow LPFM to take priority over existing translator service are allowed to take effect as proposed. The wholesome values and encouraging impact that K-LOVE stations across the United States have on our society must not be ignored when considering the proposed rule changes to the LPFM service. Thank you for taking time to read this comment and taking into consideration my concerns when making your decision.
